adhoc International specialist on Performance Engineering Solutions and SOLVIS, the Swiss IT Security specialist with a focus on Identity and Access Management (IAM) solutions, have entered into a collaboration agreement. The two companies, both Basel based, intend to propose to their customers a total expertise in the domain of enterprise performance and IT security. This alliance will allow them to propose their clients robust and well-adapted solutions which will leverage the added value supplied by IT solutions. Together, these companies have over 80 highly qualified consultants spread over 6 locations in Switzerland, France, Germany, Morocco and Tunisia.

"adhoc International is a leading EMEA IT consulting firm specialized in IT Performance and service quality whose objective is the improvement of IT application quality. " declares Makram Hanin, co-founder and Managing Director at adhoc International. "Today our customers are keen to have a quality approach for their IT in order to guarantee their SLA. In order to achieve these goals, they need to implement solutions, processes and tools which are our core business. We are very pleased to be able to enhance these by our agreement with SOLVIS, providing expertise and solutions in the highly sensitive area of IT Security."

"SOLVIS is very pleased to have found in adhoc International a partner that shares the same values and whose skills perfectly complement our expertise. This is a unique offering to our customers, which in my opinion was missing in the market. This will allow us to widen our offering and be able to propose a leading-edge service to our respective customers be it in the area of performance engineering or in IT security. Both areas are increasingly linked. This alliance opens new markets to us and will allow us to export our know-how. We are looking forward these new common challenges." declares Didier Assandri, co-founder and Managing Director of SOLVIS Ltd.
